

Media Content Removed

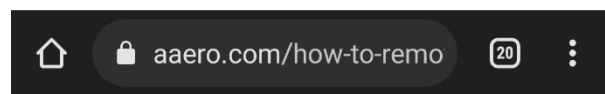

Overview: All 22 media outlets were approached, shown the evidence of the facts in the case, and politely asked to remove their coverage. By God’s grace, despite a statistically improbable 1% chance, 17 of them generously removed their content. A combination of persistence, consistency, delicate communication approaches, patience, waiting, and of course, having proof to back up the claims, is all that contributed to the monumentally unlikely outcome of getting not just 1, but 17 news outlets to unpublish their news content surrounding Justin’s case.

Some were major news outlets, some were data mining sites, and some were hole-in-the-wall or even foreign outfits, but the common denominator was the contact for each had a compassionate heart and was willing to listen—and Justin and his family are grateful to God for that.
